

The top of the page features a dark, almost black, horizontal band. Within this band, the silhouettes of trees and the roofline of a building are visible against a slightly lighter, dark purple or blue background. The building's roof is a simple gable shape, and a small portion of its side is illuminated with a warm, yellowish light. The trees are scattered across the top, with some appearing as dense clusters and others as individual shapes.

BIODIVERSITE

BIODIVERSITE